This is a wonderful opportunity for parents, athletes and coaches! John Kessel is a highly sought after international speaker who has coached on the Olympic and International level but focuses on youth athletes. He will be offering two sessions for our young athletes, parents and coaches on dynamic ways to make the opportunities found in sports better for all involved. He will challenge old ways of thinking and help coaches and parents develop motivated and dedicated players while having fun in the process.

Don't miss this engaging and inspiring opportunity!
